

Latin Languages, it would be necessary to maintain some meaning in both languages that equivocates the meaning of "Yah is our salvation". Since this is not the case, the word JESUS is some sort of total replacement device, probably used in order to appeal to the hearers of the name. The Greeks' ambition was obviously to maintain the sound of some previously familiar name—and since "koine" Greek was the language of the common people, the name zeus was a natural choice to use. In some places in the former Soviet Union, the name JESUS is spelled Jezus, having come directly from the Koine Greek. The Excuses used by the Jesuits to explain the name JESUS fall apart when the difference between "translate" and transliterate" are explained."

There are many in research of the origin of the Greek interpretation of the name Jesus. The true question is just how did we get from the Hebrew name of Yahshua meaning Yah is Salvation to Jesus. Yahshua was a Hebrew with a Hebrew name, not a Greek name, not an English name. When I go to another country they may talk in their language but they will call me by my English name. They will not change it into their language, my name is my name no matter where on earth I am living.

I understand the resistance of many Christians who "just can't get there with the Name". They argue that they were saved, baptized, healed and cast out demons on the name of Jesus. I did too. But, when knowledge came to me and my saviors true name revealed to me I wanted to use HIS GIVEN NAME.

Folks, truth is truth. A seed planted hundreds or thousands of years ago can grow in a huge tree that could take a life time to remove. Just research. There is plenty of information and this is a fine pearl that the devil wants to keep hidden.

The definition for the name God: A common Teutonic word for the personal object of religious worship, formerly applicable to superhuman beings of heathen myth; on conversion of Teutonic races to Christianity, term was applied to Supreme Being, and to Persons of the Trinity. [Ref: Encyclopedia Britannica, 11th edition; Webster's Twentieth Century Dictionary, Unabridged, 1st edition; Encyclopedia of Religions.]

God, depending upon whose definition you use is not a name, but a title or a station. When you look up the name God or especially the capitalized word LORD in the Strong's Concordance, you will find it says, "Yahweh or Yahveh or Jehovah". Jehovah cannot be used since there were no J's in any language until roughly 500 years ago. Many "Christians" do not want to use the correct Hebrew name of the Father. They feel it is "Jewish". What a shame! Listen to the scriptures.

*For from the rising of the sun even unto the going down of the same My Name shall be great among the Gentiles: and in every place incense shall be offered unto My Name, and a pure offering: for My Name shall be great among the heathen, saith the Lord (Yahveh) of Hosts. Mal 1:11 (kjv) Let us boldly speak the wonderful Name of the Father. He wants it known, there is love and power in His Name, hwhy (YAHVEH)!! *I will show the holiness of My Great Name, which has been profaned among the nations, the name you have profaned among them. The nations will know that I am the LORD (Yahveh), declares the Sovereign LORD (Yahveh), when I show myself holy through you before their eyes. Ezek 36:23 (kjv) Even the "Jewish" believers are using other Names to describe the Father. A favorite one is "HaShem", which means "The Name". If believers continue to use names as HaShem, God, Lord, Jehovah is it little wonder we believers do not know The Name of the Creator, but have called HIM by a Teutonic word. Since the scriptures declare that the Creator wanted His name known we use it with love and reverence! There is controversy as to the correct spelling and pronunciation of HIS name. hwhy is the correct spelling, but with no vowel sounds it makes it hard to know the correct way it sounds. Many say: Yah-weh with a w sound. We use the V sound as in Yah-veh. But, we are still learning. Some believe it is more like a breath that sounds more like Yah-woo-a, a very soft sound. And some use Yahuweh. What we do know is that it is NOT Lord, LORD, God, Jehovah. Strong's Concordance on the word LORD:

OT:3068 Yehovah (yeh-ho-vaw'); from OT:1961; (the) self-Existent or Eternal; Jehovah, Jewish national name of God: KJV - Jehovah, the Lord. Compare OT:3050, OT:3069. Now we have already addressed the letter J, so we know Jehovah is not correct. Do we want to Translate the Sacred Names or do we want to transliterate them?

Translate: to carry across a meaning of interpretation from one language to another. What would otherwise be gibberish or confusion is explained and rendered understandable when the sound from one language is equated with a similar idea or concept in another. It matters not if the sound is written or spoken; the objective is to convey or transfer the meaning of the word or concept.

Transliterate: From one language to another involves "trans-lettering" to take each corresponding letter from the original language and use the closest sounding letters in the target alphabet to duplicate the exact sound of the word. The meaning of the word is not involved in this process.

To quote a well documented book, "Come out of her My People". Pg.57 "The Name Yahuweh has been substituted in our translations of the Scriptures with the title "Lord" some 6823 times. The short form, Yah, has also been substituted 48 times with "Lord," and only in one place was it retained as: Yah, in Ps. 68:4, in the older and more literal translations. Further, wherever we read "GOD" in capital letters, that too is a substitute for "Yahuweh." This title, "lord," is applied to all heathen deities, if the word "god" is not used for them. In most cases "lord" and "god" are used interchangeable for pagan idols. For instance, Hare Krishna is popularly known as "Lord". I Cor. 8:5 Paul says, "There are many gods and many lords." So, who then do we worship? Surely it is time for the followers of the Creator to use His name!

Yahshua / Yeshua / Jesus

Yah = Yahveh / Shua = saves

Yahshua = Yahveh is salvation

If the letter J is only a little over 500 years old, just how did we get Jesus? Lew White of Strawberry Islands explains it this way. "The name Jesus cannot fit into the idea of being a translation, since to do this it would have to have a meaning in the target language. Yahshua (or Yahushua, Y'shua) means "Yah is our salvation". Since it has been claimed (and defended by Jesuits for centuries) to be a translation into the Greek, the subsequently the
